Auschwitz prisoners

auschwitz.org/en/museum/auschwitz-prisoners/

Since 1991, the Auschwitz-Birkenau State Museum has been creating a database containing source data on the victims of the camp (445 163 entries in 2015). It is based on original SS records. It will probably never be possible to compile the names of all the people deported to Auschwitz, since the Archive holds only about ten percent of the documentation created in Auschwitz. The great majority of the records were destroyed on orders from the SS.

Berlin Directory for the Years 1799 to 1943

<https://digital.zlb.de/viewer/cms/82/>

The Berlin Directory for the Years 1799 to 1943 has been completely digitalised and made available online. In addition to listings of public authorities, businesses and associations that were located in Berlin during these years, the directory contains above all listings of the residents of Berlin, organised by name and address. Only the heads of households, however, are listed in the directory. Thus the addresses of children and married women can be found only if the name of the father or husband is known. Identification is also difficult if a person has a very common name.

Groß-Rosen: Database of the dead

<http://en.gross-rosen.eu/baza-zmarlych-wiezniow/>

This database contains a list of people who, in years 1940- 1945, died in the subcamp (AL Gross-Rosen), and then in the concentration camp Gross-Rosen (KL Gross- Rosen). Moreover, there are included documented names of former prisoners, who died immediately after the war in subcamps' hospitals in Sowie Mountains (hospitals Blumenau, Bahnhof, Stöhr, and Krankenhaus).

Jewish Directory for Greater Berlin 1931

http://digital.zlb.de/viewer/image/1931001\_1931/1/

The directory, published in 1931, contains around 71,000 names. It remains unclear, however, on what basis the directory was compiled; in any case, only heads of households were included. Thus information about children and married women cannot be obtained from this directory.

The Memorial Book of the Federal Archives for the Victims of the Persecution of Jews in Germany (1933-1945)

<http://www.bundesarchiv.de/gedenkbuch/index.html.en>

This memorial book, prepared by the German Federal Archive, was republished in a significantly expanded edition in 2006. The book contains the names of German Jews who died from the consequences of Nazi persecution between 1933 and 1945 - not only through deportations from Germany or a country of emigration, but also through suicide as a result of Nazi persecution (ca. 150,000 entries). The online version of the memorial book has been continuously expanded since 2007 and now contains ca. 160,000 persons. It thus forms an important starting point for research on individuals.

Book of the Dead Sachsenhausen 1936 - 1945

<http://www.stiftung-bg.de/totenbuch/>

Book of dead with 22,000 names of prisoners who died in Sachsenhausen concentration camp between 1936 and 1945 as a result of planned mass murder, direct physical abuse, or abysmal working and living conditions; each entry contains the name, date of birth, place of birth, prisoner number, date of death and place of death (as far as it is known).

Yad Vashem - The Central Database of Shoah Victims' Names

<http://db.yadvashem.org/names/search.html?language=en>

In this database the Israeli Holocaust Memorial Yad Vashem together with its partners has compiled and indexed millions of names and biographical information of Jews persecuted and murdered by the Nazis. Sources are historical and archival documents, memorial books, but also "Page of Testimony" forms that relatives of those murdered can fill out and send to the memorial. The testimony forms can be downloaded as PDFs.
