

Invitation to the opening
29 April 2025, 6 p.m.

‘WULF, THE CHILDREN AND THE FORGOTTEN GARDEN’

Schoolchildren in the garden of the Wannsee Villa. The photo is from a brochure published by the Neukölln district office in 1953.

A sound installation by Yael Reuveny, Clemens Walter and Barbara Morgenstern

At the heart of this sound installation lies an encounter that never took place: Joseph Wulf – an Auschwitz survivor who, before his suicide, fought in vain to establish an official site of remembrance and documentation in the Villa – meets the children who came here until 1988, when it served as a Schullandheim (school camp). Together, they weave a dark, musical fairy tale.

The opening will include guided walks through the installation with the artists, participatory music performances, film screenings and readings.

House of the Wannsee Memorial and Educational Site | Am Großen Wannsee 56-58, 141019 Berlin
Free admission, registration.
